Hon'ble Om Prakash Shukla,J.

1. This petition under Article 226 of the Constitution of India instituted by way of Public Interest Litigation involves purely a question which is essentially academic in nature.

2. The petitioner himself is uncertain about the real date of birth for which the relief has been prayed for.

3. The reliance placed upon by the petitioner upon any text book having no legal sanctity cannot lead us to opine one way or the other

4. Such questions are left open for declaration if the petitioner is so aggrieved.

5. The writ petition being misconceived is accordingly dismissed without prejudice to the remedy of declaration sought if any.
